Memorial Windows at Westerly

Henry Milner to Memorialize Edwin and John Milner in Episcopal Church—Big Thread Mill to Display Illuminated Sign—Little Mackerel Being Caught Off Watch Hill—Babcock Residence Sold.

Harry Milner, for himself and the members of the Milner family, is arranging for memorial windows to Edwin and John Milner to be placed in Christ Episcopal church. In his lifetime Edwin Milner presented the spire of the church in memory of his friend, Rowan Babcock, and the chimes contained therein to the memory of his father and mother. A tablet in the church reads: "The spire of this church was built A. D. 1906, in memory of Rowan Babcock, 1844-1907, by his friend, E. M. 1910."

The big bell of the chime of ten bells bears this inscription: "To the most high praise to the Trinity God, and in filial and blessed memory to John and Charlotte Milner, 1869-1907."

Harry Milner is now a resident of Westerly and a large home for him is nearing completion, located on his extensive grounds, which extend from the Watch Hill road to East avenue. When the work on the house and grounds is completed, the Milner place will be among the handsomest in the town of Westerly.

The large William Clark mill of the American Thread company, located in the village of Pawcatuck, attracts attention or alarm car and trolley car passengers by reason of its size and its attractiveness and by the flying of large United States flags from the tall poles on top of the towers at either end of the big four-story brick structure. As there was no sign to designate the character of the manufacturing establishment, the question was asked many times by many persons: "What factory is that?" Soon the answer will be made from the roof of the building, which will be surmounted by a large illuminated sign bearing the trademark of the product of the concern and the words "American Thread Company, Westerly Mills."

The C. B. Cottrell & Sons company plant, also located in Pawcatuck, has large United States flags on one of the buildings, as well as a mammoth sign-board in plain view of railroad passengers. It is understood that in order to complete the designation of the plant, the company is planning to place a chain of the big industries in Pawcatuck; the American Thread company, the C. B. Cottrell & Sons company, and the William Clark mill.

There was unusual fishing off the steamer "Block Island" pier at Watch Hill and in the bay Thursday and Friday. For a first time in many years little mackerel were caught in large numbers with hook and line. Many visitors at the pier indulged in the sport, and when the supply of fishing tackle was exhausted, there was resort to common twine for a fishing, thimble for a sinker, a bent pin for a hook, and a piece of ordinary bottle cork for a bob. The little mackerel were landed by the hundreds, and the aroma from these choice panfish permeated the atmosphere at the pier. The young mackerel that visited Watch Hill bay were of the chub variety and blinker in size.

The case of Herbert Tucker, administrator, against Thomas H. Barber, which had its origin 14 years ago, an action in regard to a promissory note, has finally been decided. At the session of the Third district court Friday Judge Oliver H. Williams rendered decision that the plaintiff recover $40.44 with costs.

Attorney Harry E. Agard announced that he had planned for a vacation during August, and asked to be excused from attendance at court during that time. His request was granted. Judge Williams adding: "Mr. Agard, I hope you will have a very enjoyable time." Clerk Clarence E. Roche will be on vacation for the next two weeks.

The town council meets next Monday and will take action on the proposition of Manager Martin H. Spellman of the Westerly Light and Power company concerning the reduction of rates charged for electric lights. If the proposition is satisfactory to the council, the petition for a public hearing before the Rhode Island public utilities commission, so far as the council is concerned, will be withdrawn. This action will not prevent the Westerly Board of Trade, or any citizen, from filing petition for a hearing by the commission.

Westerly seems to be on its good behavior and as a result there was no criminal docket for the Third district court session Friday.

Henry Morris, Jr., of District No. 6, had the fingers of his left hand severely crushed while at work at a corn-shelling machine Thursday.

A concert and whist was held Friday night at Pleasant View for the benefit of the Church of the Assumption that is to be dedicated Sunday, Aug. 13.

The Westerly Historical society is an active organization and is rapidly increasing in membership, which includes several residents of considerable prominence.

formerly owned by Miss Martha P. Babcock, now of Riverview manor, Dobbs Ferry, N. Y. Miss Babcock is a first cousin of John F. Vose and has a life interest in the Barber Memorial building in High street.

STONINGTON

Saturday Nearest Aug. 10th to Be Marked by Fire Parade—Appeal in Cartwright Will Probating Withdrawn.

At considerable expense to the borough, the Stonington fire department rendered service at the Manor Inn fire several months ago, as did also the Mystic department, and for which no recompense has been received. The insurance companies were the real beneficiaries of the service rendered and, in the opinion of those directly interested, these companies should come across and make good the actual expenses of both departments at that time. It would be only an act of justice for the company having insurance on the residence of Ferdinand Winslow, which was saved from destruction by the work of the Mystic pumping machine, to send that company a substantial check. When service is rendered outside the fire district there is no valid reason why there should not be some financial recompense.

To Celebrate Battle of Stonington.

In accordance with custom, the annual parade of the Stonington fire department will be held next Saturday, the Saturday nearest August 10th to mark the anniversary of the battle of Stonington. Stonington is among the few places in the state where the old-fashioned and yet efficient, volunteer firemen parade with hand-drawn apparatus, and with horse-drawn steam fire engine. No place in the state with a volunteer department can make a better appearance in parade, or in larger numbers, when the size of the place is considered. It can also be safely stated that no fire department can boast a fire chief of longer continuous active service than Chief Teed. He has a fine record of half a century to his credit, and is really as active as any man in the department, and there are some real active firemen in the borough of Stonington.

Cartwright Appeal Withdrawn.

The appeal from the action of Judge Elias B. Hinckley in admitting the last will of Abel Cartwright to probate and rejecting an earlier will has been withdrawn, a mutual agreement having been reached by all parties in interest. Besides money on deposit, the estate includes real estate in Pawcatuck. Abel Loudon is confirmed as executor, and Henry A. Stable and Albert G. Martin are the appraisers.

Local people are sympathizing with Mrs. Pierre Allard in the loss of her little daughter Rosanna, whose death occurred Tuesday evening from burns. Neighbors have much to say about Mrs. Allard's heroic attempt to extinguish the child's burning clothes and save her daughter from a horrible fate. Mrs. Allard pulled the burning clothes from the child and doing so severely burned both hands. In spite of this fact, when the child's clothes were torn off, Mrs. Allard, with motherly affection, took the little girl and sat her in her arms in sweet oil. Mrs. Allard's hands were dressed by the doctor when he arrived and she is still being attended by the doctor.
